POISON IN POTTER COUNTY.

A Man Sells His Wife for "One Day's Work, a Razor Strop and Razor"-The Wife and Her Buyer Poison the Husband-The Parties in Jail.

[From the Pittsburg Commercial of the 6th.] From our exchanges from Potter county, Pa., we got the particulars of a most singular case. Graves traded his wife to one Havnes, the consideration being one day's work, a razor strop and a razor, Haynes to have undisputed possession of the woman as wife or mistress. Haynes and Mrs. former suddenly disappeared and the woman was persuaded to return to the hearth of her lawful husband. Now for the sequel as related in the Coudersport Journal:-

husband. Now for the sequel as related in the Coudersport Journal:—

On Sunday morning last there was brought to the jall in this place George Haynes, residing near Miliport, charged with being accessory to the poisoning of H. D. Graves, of Sharon township, it seems that an intimacy has existed for a long time between Haynes and Mrs. Graves. A couple of weeks since Mr. Graves was taken sick. On Monday, the 22d of June, Haynes, who was living at the house of William Payne, said he must go away on business for Mrs. Graves, He was absent all day, and on his return said he had been to Port Allegany. Mr. Payne, seeing a couple of packages in the coat of Haynes hanging up in the house, while Haynes was doing the chores, examined them and found one to be a half-ounce bettle marked strychnine and the other a package marked arsenic—both bearing the packages Payne replaced. On the 23d Haynes met Mrs. Graves near her house, and, it is supposed, gave her the poison; at least, the next day Graves was violently ill, frothing at the mouth and vomiting. Mrs. Graves, who was arrested Sunday evening and committed to the County Jail by Leroy Allen, Justice of the Peace, of Clara, states that at the interview with Haynes on Tuesday, he was very desirous of going into the house to see Graves, but she refused, as Graves would be angry, and told Haynes he might stand by a window where he could see Graves without being seen himself. In this window sat a bowl of lemonade, and Mrs. Graves thinks if there has been any pot-soling done that Haynes must have put the polson into this lemonade. At least, she knows that taking a drink of it herself afterward, she was made very sick, but the sickness only lasted to allow any one but herself to administer medicine

During all of Graves' sickness his wife refused to allow any one but herself to administer medicine or to sit up with him nights. Dr. Porter was in attendance upon Graves, and Dr. Butler, of Ceres, was called after the poison was discovered. Graves said he thought poison had been given him for some days.

said he thought policies of the case, and probably all that will be known until the matter is tried by the courts. Graves was alive at last reports.

THE ORLEANS PRINCES AND THE REPUBLIC. William H. Huntington writes to the Tribune:-"A story ran last week (and ran against innocents who repeated it for a day or two with belief) that the Duke d'Aumale, urged by the fear of the Bonapartists, would put to the nation's use one of his frequent absences from his Besançon military headquarters, and play on the stage of the Versailies Theatre one brief, heroic, patriotic part, proclaiming his adherence to the Republic. This Duke and his one nephew, the Count de Paris, might, by an intelligibly clear declaration of ten lines in that sense, assure a permanent government to their country, ruin to both the Centres and more than half the republican Leit in an overwhelming majority in the Assembly, to which five-sixths of all adult citizens would join their voices in one enthusiastic hurrah or glad acquiescence. The two gentlemen prefer to 'reserve' their questionable chances of personal profit and princely pre-eminence. If these two patriotic French gentlemen should, one of these coming years, again find themselves bound to the other side of the British Channel by imperial edict of the boy now waiting at Chiselburst for a passage to Paris let them thank themselves for that future change in their situation which they are at present doing their poor best to accomplish." sailles Theatre one brief, heroic, patriotic part, pro-

HOW A SALABY GRABBER WAS PLANKED. [From the St. Louis Republican.]

Colonel Orzo J. Dodds, late member of Congress from the First district of Ohio, tells a good story about a call he recently received at his office from a man who claimed to be an editor from Arkansas. He was a very seedy looking chap and appeared as though he had but recently come off from about a six-weeks' spree. Bowing profoundly, then striking an attitude, with one hand on his heart and the other extending a badly-used plug hat, he ex-claimed with a dramatic air— "Have I the honor of addressing the Hon. Orzo

J. Dodds?"
"My name is Dodds, but I am no longer honorable." said the Colonel.
"Not an honorable? Dodds not an honorable?
Now, by St. Paul, when I can scan that honest face on which all the gods do seem to set their seal—('Green seal,' murmured Dodds to nimself)—I read notning dishonorable."

nothing dishonorable."

"That's right," said Dodds; "never read anything dishonorable. But to business."

"Yes, as you say, to business. I am a printer—
I might say, with no unbecoming blush, an editor, I am from the noble State of Arkansas, the only State, by the way, able and willing to support two governments at the same time. But I have been unfortunate. Much nave I been tossed through the ire of cruel Juno, and—"
"Juno how it is yourself," broke in the Colonel.

"Bufleted by the world's rude storm, you see me here a standard wreek. Scarce three months past I leit my office in charge of my worthy foreman and sought the peaceful vales and caim repast I leit my office in charge of my worthy foreman and sought the peaceful vales and caim restreats of the Muskingum valley, where my childhood sported. Returning, I stopped in Cincinnati, I fell into evil company and—but why dwell on details? Enough that I am—ushcartened, runed, broke! A mark for scorn to point her slow, unerring finger at. As I was about to give up in despair, having given up everything else I had, I thought of you. Sir, I am here. You have not sent for me, but I have come! Your name, sir, is known and honored from one end of this great Republic to the other. It

Glows in the stars.

Retreshes in the breeze,
Warms in the sun,
And blossoms on the tees.

When the national Treasury was threatened by horde of greedy Congressmen, you stood like a wall of adamant between the people and those inhamous salary grabbers. Lend me a dollar!"

"My dear sir," the Colonel hastened to explain,
"you mistake the case entirely, I was one of the grabbers."

grabbers."

"You were?" (Grasping the Colonel's hand warmiy.) "So much the better! Let me congratulate you that a parsimonous public could not frighten you out of what was fair remuneration for your invaluable services. I am glad that your pecuniary circumstances are so much better than I supposed. Make it two dollars!"

And the Colonel did. It was the only clean thing let for nim to do.

GOOD NEWS FROM LOUISIANA.

[From the New Orleans Picayune.] We have received a bundle of stalks of cane of miles below the city. We have never seen such advanced growth at this season of the year. The stalks are seven or eight leet high, and are jointed over three leet.

A CHINESE GIRL SOLD FOR $200.

(From the San Francisco Chronicle, 27th) ton arrested a Chinese female named Loi Ho on a charge of misdemeanor in dealing in human flesh. She is charged with disposing of a young Mon-golian damsel named Ah Cheung, through the inwhich legalized the transaction has been translated by an interpreter as follows:

Lot Ho makes this distinct agreement to sell one because of her present distress, having no money to use, but having a girl named Ah Cheung, aged thirteen years born in the first month of the year, the twenteth day, at two o'clock A. M. Now, Lot Ho is willing to sell this girl to another person to get money to use. The middle man, Ah Loke, finds Qui Foh willing to hay fer. The three persons (Lot Ho, Qui Foh and Ah Loke), face to face distinctly determined the price of her body to be $20. From the day of this agreement, the money being all paid in presence of air, Lot Ho with her own hands having received the money, the girl and the money both exchange hands. Qui Foh may take the girl, Ah Cheung, for her own until she is grown up to mil size. This is true money and a true bargain. No other ceron has any part in E. That there may be proof of this, Lot Ho makes this bill of sale, one paper, and gives the girl is willing to testify to the foregoing

Signed by Loi Ho, her finger mark.

The girl is willing to testify to the foregoing state of facts. It is charged that the matter is a conspiracy, and that Loi Ho is herself a chattel and is indebted to her master in a large sum, and it is with a view to settle the indebtedness that the case has been brought. The matter will be developed in the Police Court to-day.

A SCALAWAG JUDGE KILLED.

(From the New Orleans Picayune, July 3.) A gentleman from Iberia informs us, on what he believes to be reliable authority, that Judge Castille, of the Parish Court of St. Martins, was killed in a difficulty there some days ago. Castille is one of the scalawag officials in whose behalf the namous St. Martinsville invasion was ordered. He is an ignorant, inprincipled, disreputable creature. Whom the entire white population of the parish holds in utter contempt and enmity, whose election was an insult and whose tenure has been raught with evil to the people and disgrace to those why have maintained him in that tenure.

If a premium were offered, says the Baltimore Gazette of Monday, for the most absentminded man in Baltimore, it would, without doubt, be awarded to Dr. Friedenwald, of North Eutaw street. On Saturday morning last Dr. Friedenwald called at the Western station house and stated to Lieuten-ant Fitzgerald, the officer in charge, that his horse ant Fitzgerald, the officer in charge, that his norse and buggy had been stolen from in front of his residence. Such theits are not unfrequent, and the Lieutenant at once notified the other districts by telegraph of the robbery, describing the Doctor's team, as is customary. The Boctor then took his departure, but in an hour or two returned, and finding that nothing had been heard of his team, visited the Marshal's office, who had inquiries at once made by telegraph to know it the horse had been found in any of the districts, but received a negative reply. Dr. Friedenwald was in quite an excited mood, and after requesting the Marshal to place the matter in the hands of the detectives, took his departure in a carriage he had procured for pressing purposes. A comple of hours later a message was received by Lieutenant Fitzgerald that the Doctor had recovered his team, and upon inquiry the following amusing denouement was made:—Dr. Friedenwald was called to visit a patient on Howard street in the morning, and drove there in his buggy, which he leit standing in iront of the house. After prescribing the necessary nostrums the Doctor walked quietly out, forgetting his horse and buggy. He did not discover the loss for an hour later, and at once jumped to the conclusion that it had been stolen. After the hours some one sent word to him. The story of the Doctor's absentmindedness soon circulated, and considerable merriment was created at his expense. The man who failed to detect the whereabours of the spectacles on his nose was nothing, in point of absentmindedness to Dr. Friedenwald. and buggy had been stolen from in front of hi

A METHODIST MINISTER'S BATTLE WITH A RATTLESNAKE

[From the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle and Sentinel. We learn from a letter from Athens that a heart rending scene occurred in Clarke county, about eight miles from Athens recently. While Mr. A. L. Williamson was ploughing in his field he turned up a young tree that he had planted in the fall. He a young tree that he had planted in the fall. He stooped to pick it up, when he heard a singing noise under some brush in a corner of the fence. He pushed aside the brush and saw a huge rattle-snake. He jerked up a rail and commenced striking at the scrpent. Uniorcunately, however, he got too near the snake, which sprang at him and buried its fangs in the caif of his leg. Mr. Williamson finally kined the venomous reptile. One of his employe's reached him about that time and found his leg greatly swollen. He carried him home and gave him stimulants freely, but without avail. The sufferer died in a few minutes. Mr. Williamson was a Methodist minister and much esteemed in the community. The snake which caused Mr. Williamson's death was ten jeet long, with eighteen rattles and a button.

DYING FROM A BITE BY A MAN.

On the 22d of June (says the Troy Times of Mon day), Joseph Clark, of Lansinburg, was vitten by John Lewis on the thumb. Thursday alternoon Dr. Lamb, of Lansingburg, amputated the thumb that his ante-mortem statement was taken by Coroner Seaman. He deposed that he and Lewis Coroner Seaman. He deposed that he and Lewis met on the 22d in a saloon; that he was a little drunk, and tried to treat Lewis, who did not want anything to drink. Clark was persistent, when Lewis attacked him and they both went to the ground. During the struggle Lewis got Clark's thumb in his mouth and bit it very hard. Joseph Campbell took Lewis off, and when Clark saw the blood on his thumb he went to Lewis and struck him, atter which he kicked him. Clark was then taken to his home. He is not expected to live.
